

ADR Group Commercial Mediator Profile

MAEVE EGAN

ADR Group Commercial Mediator

To appoint this mediator please email casemanagement@adrgroup.co.uk

Maeve has extensive experience of all types of mediation. A key strength is her focus on the interpersonal aspects of any legal disputes, as she recognises the enormous impact disputes can have on every aspect of a person's life. Maeve seeks to resolve the emotional as well as financial/technical aspects of a dispute to enable working relationships to continue or new and positive directions to be agreed. She undertakes both sole and co-mediation.

Professional Background

Maeve was a senior manager in the public sector for many years and she worked in both operational and business management roles. She therefore has an excellent understanding of large and complex organisations and has gained valuable experience in managing and allocating very large budgets.

Maeve has extensive experience of representing local authorities in a wide range of legal disputes, including HR/tribunals, care proceedings and contract disputes. She has mediated disputes between local authorities and other public bodies – charities and the NHS. She also has experience of running her own small business.

Having qualified as a mediator in 1996 Maeve has now undertaken in excess of three hundred mediations, both in family and civil disputes. Her key specialisms include family disputes, probate and inheritance, partnerships, workplace disputes, property, charities and public sector issues.

Endorsements

"Maeve and her co-mediator were brilliant! They combined a thorough knowledge of legalities with empathy and sensitivity to produce what I feel was a fair basis for a settlement. I cannot recommend them highly enough".

"Mediators were excellent at helping us look for practical solutions. Was good to be able to talk in a safe environment".

Other Experience

Maeve is a founder member of Business Mediation Matters and Bristol Family Mediators and a member of ADR Net. She is also the financial director of a mediation organisation and co-runs a family farming business.

Personal Interests

Maeve is married with two children and lives in Bristol. As if she wasn't busy enough – she is currently studying a degree in Geoscience. If she has any spare time, Maeve is a keen hill walker.
