Sara is an employment solicitor and Partner with George Davies Solicitors LLP, a legal 500 North West law firm. Sara's work in employment law has provided her with an excellent understanding of the relationship issues that arise in the workplace and has extensive experience of resolving the same.

Professional Background

Sara qualified as a solicitor in 1996 and has specialised in employment law for over 14 years. She was formally a senior employment lawyer with Hammonds. Sara takes a commercial and pragmatic approach to dealing with party disputes. As part of her legal service to clients she has worked to assist parties to resolve issues and gained formal mediation accreditation from ADR in 2008.

Endorsements

"Ms Barrett rapidly developed a significant rapport with both parties..."

"...a remarkable gentle yet rigorous process of reality testing.."

"...clients particularly appreciate Sara Barrett's 'exceptional service'." Legal 500 - 2008

Other experience

Sara provides legal advice on the entire aspect of employment law including dealing with grievance and disciplinary issues, discrimination etc. She has a particular expertise in matters that involve managing 'change' in the workplace including collective redundancies and the Transfer of Undertakings (Protection of Employment) Regulations.
